

Spelling list: Characters in A Great and Terrible Beauty

In A Great and Terrible Beauty by Libba Bray, Gemma Doyle, a Victorian-era girl, discovers her mystical abilities and a hidden realm of magic. Alongside her friends, she uncovers dark secrets at her boarding school, Spence Academy, leading to a perilous journey into a supernatural world that challenges societal norms and friendships.

Gemma
Gemma Doyle, the novel's protagonist, is a young English girl who discovers her magical abilities and a mysterious destiny.

Doyle
Gemma Doyle, the novel's protagonist, is a young English girl who discovers her magical abilities and a mysterious destiny.

Felicity
Felicity Worthington is Gemma's roommate and close friend at Spence Academy.

Worthington
Felicity Worthington is Gemma's roommate and close friend at Spence Academy.

Ann
Ann Bradshaw is a quiet and reserved girl who is loyal to Gemma.

Bradshaw
Ann Bradshaw is a quiet and reserved girl who is loyal to Gemma.

Pippa
Pippa Cross is the fourth member of Gemma's close-knit group of friends at Spence Academy.

Cross
Pippa Cross is the fourth member of Gemma's close-knit group of friends at Spence Academy.

Kartik
Kartik is a member of the Rakshana: a secret organisation assigned to watch over Gemma and guide her in her magical abilities.

Eugenia
Eugenia Spence is the headmistress of Spence Academy.

Spence
Eugenia Spence is the headmistress of Spence Academy.

Circe
Circe is a mysterious and powerful figure who appears in Gemma's visions and dreams.

Mary Dowd is a maid at Spence Academy who becomes entangled in the

Mary	supernatural events surrounding Gemma and her friends.
Dowd	Mary Dowd is a maid at Spence Academy who becomes entangled in the supernatural events surrounding Gemma and her friends.
Tom	Tom Doyle is Gemma's younger brother.
McCleethy	Miss McCleethy is a teacher at Spence Academy who becomes suspicious of the girls' activities.